Notice of Maintenance Fees Payable

Title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, Section 1.362(d), effective Nov. 1, 1984, provides that maintenance fees may be paid without surcharge for a six-month period beginning 3, 7, and 11 years after the date of issue of patents based on applications filed on or after Dec. 12, 1980. An additional six-month grace period is provided by 35 U.S.C. 41(b) and 37 CFR 1.362(e) for payment of the maintenance fee with the surcharge set forth in 37 CFR 1.20(k) or (l), effective Nov. 1, 1984. If the maintenance fee is not paid in a patent requiring such payment, the patent will expire on the 4th, 8th or 12th anniversary of the grant.

Attention is drawn to the patents which were issued on September 21, 1982 for which maintenance fees due at 3 years and six months may now be paid. The patents have patent numbers within the following ranges:

Plant Patents	None
Utility Patents	4,349,920 through 4,351,064

Reissue Patents based on the above identified patents.

No maintenance fees are required for design patents.

Payments of maintenance fees in patents should be directed to "Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box M. Fee, Washington, D.C. 20231."

37 CFR Part 1
[Docket No. 50716-5116]
Variety Naming Requirements for Plant Patent Applications

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.
Action: Notice of proposed rulemaking.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office proposes to amend certain of the rules of practice for plant patent applications. Under the proposed rules of practice, an applicant for a plant patent will, in addition to the present requirements for obtaining a plant patent, also be required to designate and record a variety name for the plant. These proposed rules fulfill an obligation imposed by the Convention of the International Union for the Protection of New Plant Varieties, to which the United States adheres.
Date: Comments on the proposed rules must be submitted by Oct. 31, 1985, to assure their consideration in formulating the rules put into effect.
Addresses: Address comments to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box 4, Washington, D.C. 20231. All comments received will be made publicly available in the Patent and Trademark office, Crystal Plz., Arlington, Va., Rm. 3-11C28. No public hearing is planned.
For Further Information Contact: Mr. Stanley D. Schlosser, Office of Legislation and International Affairs, by telephone at (703) 557-3065 or by mail addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Box 4, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: The requirement for designating a variety by name and recording that name arises from Article 13 of the UPOV (International Union for the Protection of New Plant Varieties) Convention. This Convention became applicable to the United States on Nov. 8, 1981. In the terminology of Article 13, this designation and recordation is referred to as the registration of the variety name. Registration is required for each plant variety protected in a member state of this Union (hereafter referred to as a member state) either by means of a plant patent or an award of breeders' rights.

It is left to each member state to determine exactly how registration will be effected. For the United States, the issuance of a plant patent, including in the patent the name of the variety patented, will constitute registration. The patent examining process will include a consideration of the suitability for registration of the proposed variety name.

A variety name will be registered if it is judged by the Patent and Trademark Office as not likely to mislead or cause confusion regarding the characteristics, value or identity of the variety, or the identity of the breeder. Also, a variety name to the registered must not impair or conflict with any trademark or another name in which other person has a proprietary right. Ordinarily, the patent applicant will be required to register the same variety name (or a translation thereof) for a particular variety in each member state adhering to the UPOV Convention. These are, in broad terms, the conditions set forth in UPOV Article 13 for the registration of a variety name.

A variety name is the generic name by which the variety is popularly or commonly known. The commercial use of a registered variety name, however, will not be regulated by the Patent and Trademark Office. Rather, use of a variety name, whether registered or unregistered (in cases where the variety is not patented), will be regulated by any applicable state and federal unfair competition and trademark laws.

Variety names are referred to in the UPOV Convention as "variety denominations" and often in plant breeding circles as "cultivar names." For the purposes of these rules of practice, the three terms are considered synonymous.

Attention is called to the Commissioner's Notice (Federal Register/Vol. 46, No. 22/Oct. 20, 1 981) stating that appropriate rules for the naming of plant varieties, as required by the UPOV Convention, will be issued. The Federal Register Notice also provides information about interim procedures to be followed until rules of practice are adopted.

The proposed amendments to the rules of practice when finally adopted will replace the interim procedures announced in the Federal Register on Oct. 20, 1981, in regard to the patenting in the United States of asexually reproduced plants. These proposed amendments will not apply, however, to any protection sought under the Plant Variety Protection Act (7 U.S.C. 2321 et seq.), administered by the Department of Agriculture and applying only to sexually reproduced plant varieties.

The proposed amendment to §1.163 prescribes the obligation (as set forth in the UPOV Convention) for registering the name of each patented plant variety. The proposed name will be selected by the patent applicant for inclusion in the title of the application, where it will be easiest for a reader of the patent to find. It will be judged for registrability by the examiner to whom the patent application is assigned for examination, who, however, may receive advice or information from officials of the trademark examining operation. As examples of suitable naming practice, note the titles of plant patents Nos. 5,413 and 5,414, "Plum Tree 'Mr. Paul' " and "Chrysanthemum Plant Named Foxy," respectively.

The requirement for registration applies only to plant patent applications actually filed in the United States on or after Nov. 1, 1981, the date on which the UPOV Convention took effect for the United States, even though the application may be entitled to an earlier United States filing date under the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 120, or claim the right of priority in accordance with 35 U.S.C. 119.

The procedure for judging registrability of a variety name will utilize the Office's compilation of variety names in use in the United States and foreign countries. This compilation has been and will continue to be obtained from horticultural, agriculture, floral and other professional societies, other national examination offices, the UPOV Secretariat, standard references, and other sources. Designation of a variety by name is a formal requirement for obtaining a patent, and will be generally administered in the same manner as other formal requirements.

Proposed new §1.166(a) sets forth the requirement for naming a variety to be patented. The criteria to be applied will be those set forth in the International Code of Nomenclature for Cultivated Plants—1980. Its articles 1 to 32 provide substantive rules for naming varieties. The other articles, concerned with non-statutory registration authorities, earlier publication, amendment of the Code and other matters unrelated to the registration criteria, of course, will not be involved. Copies of the Code are available from any of the following: The International Bureau for Plant Taxonomy and Nomenclature, Tweede Transitorium, Uithof, Utrecht, Netherlands; the American Horticultural Society, Mt. Vernon, Va. 22121; the Crop Science Society of America, 677 S. Sego Rd., Madison, Wis. 53711; and the Royal Horticultural Society, Vincent Sq., London, SW IP, 2PE, Great Britain.

Registrability will also take into account the Office's file of both registered trademarks and those proposed for registration. If a conflict exists between a proposed variety name and a registered trademark or one proposed for registration, the variety name will not be registered and a new name will be required.

Proposed §1.168(b) concerns patent applications failing to include a proposed variety name. The examiner will require the submission of a variety name and set a period for compliance.

Proposed §1.168(c) and (d) concern an examiner's refusal to register a proposed variety name. Paragraph (c) requires the applicant, upon a final determination of unregistrability, to submit another variety name. Paragraph (d) assures the applicant's right instead to petition the Commissioner in cases where the proposed name is not accepted. The petition will be subject to a fee and the other requirements of these rules applicable to petitions.

The UPOV Convention requires the breeder to identify the patented variety by the same variety (or a translation thereof) in all member states. A different name may be registered in a particular member state, however, in cases where the name registered earlier in another member state is unsuitable for registration. The Convention's requirements for the consistent naming of varieties are incorporated in proposed §1.168(e). The applicant may during the course of prosecuting the application be required to inform the Office of any other names by which the variety is known, either in the United States or foreign countries, and to provide a translation into English of any such names.

Specific criteria for unsuitability cannot always be defined in advance, but must develop on a case-by-case basis. Certain criteria for unsuitability can be stated at the outset, however. Names that are difficult to pronounce by English speakers, names having adverse business connotations, and names in non-English characters are examples of unsuitability. The applicant must when submitting a name for registration different from that used in another member state explain in writing why the name used in that other state is unsuitable.

A patent owner or the assignee of a patent will, at times, learn that the registered variety name conflicts with another person's trademark or other proprietary right, or be ordered by a court to commercialize the variety under another name. At other times, a registered variety name may turn out to conflict with an earlier-registered variety name or one already in use. Also, changes in language or custom may render an earlier-registered variety name unsuitable for commercial use. In these cases, a different or substitute name may be submitted for registration. Proposed §1.168(f) concerns the issuance of a certificate of correction under 35 U.S.C. 255 for the registration of a substitute name in such situations. The patent owner in applying for the registration of a substitute name will be required to explain in writing why it is necessary to do so.

It is, of course, in the patent applicant's interest to know or learn as early as possible if the proposed variety name conflicts with another's trademark or other proprietary right. Accordingly, proposed §1.168(g) authorizes the Patent and Trademark Office to publish in the Trademark Official Gazette each proposed variety name. The Office will also regularly publish in the Trademark Official Gazette lists of registered variety names, and such names will be identified in each plant patent and in the Patent Official Gazette.

The publication of proposed variety names should greatly reduce the possibility of later conflicts. Conflicts between proposed variety names and proprietary rights will be resolved in an ex parte manner. No inter partes proceedings will be held to resolve a conflict.

Any substitute name registered for a variety will also be published in the Trademark Official Gazette, and a certificate of correction containing the substitute name will be issued. If the patent has been assigned, the opportunity to register a different variety name will be available only to the assignee.

In the event a plant breeder proceeds to protect a plant variety under the provisions of section 101 of the patent laws (title 35, U.S.C), the variety naming requirements of these proposed rules shall also apply to that patent application. This possibility is acknowledged in the proposed amendment to section 1.71. Applications for the patenting of microorganisms under section 101 will, however, not be subjected to this variety naming requirement.

Article 13 of the UPOV Convention of Oct. 23, 1978, referred to above, reads:

Article 13
Variety Denomination

(1) The variety shall be designated by a denomination destined to be its generic designation. Each member State of the Union shall ensure that subject to paragraph (4) no rights in the designation regist ered as the denomination of the variety shall hamper the free use of the denomination in connection with the variety, even after the expiration of the protection.

(2) The denomination must enable the variety to be identified. It may not consist solely of figures except where this is an established practice for designating varieties. It must not be liable to mislead or to cause confusion concerning the characteristics, value or identity of the variety or the identity of the breeder. In particular, it must be different from every denomination which designates, in any member State of the Union, an existing variety of the same botanical species or of a closely related species.

(3) The denomination of the variety shall be submitted by the breeder to the authority referred to in Article 30(1)(b). If it is found that such denomination does not satisfy the requirements of paragraph (2), that authority shall refuse to register it and shall require the breeder to propose another denomination within a prescribed period. The denomination shall be registered at the same time as the title of protection is issued in accordance with the provisions of Article 7.

(4) Prior rights of third parties shall not be affected. If, by reason of a prior right, the use of the denomination of a variety is forbidden to a person who, in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (7), is obliged to use it, the authority referred to in Article 30(1)(b) shall require the breeder to submit another denomination for the variety.

(5) A variety must be submitted in member States of the Union under the same denomination. The authority referred to in Article 30(1)(b) shall register the denomination so submitted, unless it considers that denomination unsuitable in its State. In the latter case, it may require the breeder to submit another denomination.

(6) The authority referred to in Article 30(1)(b) shall ensure that all the other such authorities are informed of matters concerning variety denominations, in particular the submission, registration and cancellation of denominations. Any authority referred to in Article 30(1)(b) may address its observations, if any, on the registration of a denomination to the authority which communicated that denomination.

(7) Any person who, in a member State of the Union, offers for sale or markets reproductive or vegetative propagating material of a variety protected in that State shall be obliged to use the denomination of that variety, even after the expiration of the protection of that variety, in so far as, in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (4), prior rights do not prevent such use.

(8) When the variety is offered for sale or marketed, it shall be permitted to associate a trademark, trade name or other similar indication with a registered variety denomination. If such an indication is so associated, the denomination must nevertheless be easily recognizable.

UPOV Article 30(1)(b), referred to in Article 13, reads as follows:

Article 30

Implementation of the Convention on the Domestic Level; Contracts on the Joint Utilisation of Examination Services

(1) Each member State of the Union shall adopt all measures necessary for the application of this Convention; in particular, it shall:

(b) set up a special authority for the protection of new varieties of plants or entrust such protection to an existing authority;

Other Considerations: The proposed rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96–354), Executive Order 12291, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501, et seq. There are no information collection requirements in the proposed rule change.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce certified to the Small Business Administration that the proposed rule change will not have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96–354). The variety naming requirement will impose very little or no extra work on patent applicants (whether small or large businesses or individuals). The rule will help avoid litigation over variety names and trademark rights, which are far more burdensome than the procedures under the proposed rule.

The Patent and Trademark Office has determined that this rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, state, or local government agencies, or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

List of subjects in 37 CFR Part 1

Administrative practice and procedure, Courts, Inventions and patients.

For the reasons set out in the preamble, 37 CFR Part 1 is proposed to be amended by amending §§1.71, 1.163, 1.168 and 1.17 as set forth below. All proposed additions are printed between arrows.

Part 1—Rules of Practice in Patent Cases

1. The authority citation for 37 CFR Part 1 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 35 U.S.C., unless otherwise noted.

2. Section 1.17 is proposed to be amended by adding the following items in numerical order to the list in paragraph (h) to read as follows:

§1.17 Patent application processing fees.

* * * * *

(h) * * *

►—1.168(d) For petitioning the Commissioner to register a plant variety name. . . .

—§1.168(e) For petitioning the Commissioner to register a substitute plant variety name. . . .◄

* * * * *

3. Section 1.17 is proposed to be amended by adding paragraph (d) to read as follows:

§1.71 Detailed description and specification of the invention.

* * * * *

►(d) In the case of an application for the patenting of a plant variety filed under the provisions of section 101 of title 35, United States Code, the requirements for the naming of a variety specified under §§1.163 and 1.168 shall apply thereto.◄

4. Section 1.163 is proposed to be amended by adding the following three sentences at the end of paragraph (a):

§1.163 Specification

(a)* * * ►The title of the invention must include a proposed name for the variety to be patented, where it may be easily recognized as such. A substitute variety name may be proposed during the pendency of the application provided its consideration will not significantly delay disposition of the application. The granting of the patent will be deemed the registration of the variety name for the patented plant for purposes of complying with Article 13 of the International Convention for the Protection of New Varieties of Plants (UPOV), as revised on Oct. 23, 1978.◄

* * * * *

5. A new §1.168 is proposed to be added, which reads as follows:

►§1.168 Variety name, submission to the Office, examination.

(a) The variety name submitted by the patent applicant under §1.163 or §1.71(d) will be examined for compliance with §1.163 using as guidelines for this examination the cultivar naming requirements of the International Code of Nomenclature for Cultivated Plants —1980.

(b) If a proposed variety name is not included as part of the title of the application, as filed, the examiner will set a period of not less than thirty days for providing such name.

(c) If the examiner determines that a proposed variety name is not suitable for registration, or that the proposed name conflicts with a registered trademark or a trademark proposed for registration, the examiner shall refuse registration and set forth in an Office action the reasons for such refusal. Such reasons shall be included in the examiner's action provided under §1.104, subject to the provisions of §1.105. An applicant in disagreement with such refusal may request reconsideration and withdrawal of the refusal, giving the reasons therefor. If the examiner's refusal to register a proposed variety name is repeated and made final, the examiner will at the same time require the applicant to propose another variety name for registration.

(d) After a final requirement by the examiner for submission of a proposed new variety name, the applicant, in addition to making any response due on the remainder of the action, may in lieu of proposing a new variety name petition the Commissioner for review of the examiner's holding together with the fee set forth in §1.17(h).

(e) The applicant will be required to submit for registration the same variety name (or a translation thereof) as that previously registered or proposed for registration in an earlier filed application for protection of the variety in another UPOV member state. Such applicant may submit another name for registration, however, upon a showing satisfactory to the examiner as to why the name originally submitted in another UPOV member state is unsuitable for registration. During the pendency of an application, the examiner may require the applicant to provide any name for the same variety registered or proposed for registration in other UPOV member states before the United States application was filed. If not in English characters, a translation or transliteration of such name or names may be required. An applicant dissatisfied with the examiner's decision concerning the unsuitability of a variety name may petition the Commissioner, together with that fee set forth in §1.17(h).

(f) A patentee, in order to avoid a conflict between a registered variety name and a trademark, or where the registered variety name is likely to be confused with another variety name, or where a registered variety name had acquired an adverse connotation, may propose for registration a substitute variety name for that already registered. Such a proposal shall be in the form of a petition to the Commissioner, together with the fee set forth in §1.17(h). The proposed substitute name will be examined in the same manner as the name originally registered, and upon registration shall be promptly published in the Official Gazette. A certificate of correction indicating such substitute name shall be issued for the patent. If the patent has been assigned, only the assignee of record may apply for registration of a substitute name.

(g) The Commissioner shall upon its receipt in the Office promptly publish in the Trademark Official Gazette any variety name proposed for registration and the genus and species of the plant involved. Correspondence from a person other than the patent applicant concerning the registrability of a proposed or registered variety name shall be served on the applicant by such person and a certificate of such service shall appear on the copy of the correspondence filed in the Patent and Trademark Office. Such correspondence will be placed in the official file, and in the case of an application will be considered by the examiner in an ex parte manner during the examination of the application.◄

IMPROVEMENTS TO SERVICES

- Goals for Faster Service — One of our special service objectives for this year was to commit to goals for faster service. As you will note on the report above, seven goals have been reduced. We will continue to look for ways to expedite services, as well as improve quality.

HELPFUL HINTS FROM THE PTO

- Withdrawal of Attorney — To expedite the handling of request for permission to withdraw as attorney under 37 CFR §1.36, submit the request in triplicate (original and two copies) and indicate thereon the present mailing addresses of the attorney who is withdrawing and of the applicant. The examining group number should also appear on all such requests. Because the Office does not recognize law firms, each attorney of record must sign the notice of withdrawal, or the notice of withdrawal must contain a clear indication of one attorney signing on behalf of another.
  A request to withdraw is effective when approved rather than when received. This is particularly important when such requests are submitted toward the end of the period for response. There should be at least thirty days between approval of withdrawal and the expiration date of a time response period so that the applicant will have sufficient time to obtain other representation or take other action. If less than thirty days remain in a running response period, a request to withdraw is normally disapproved.

It would be helpful if a request and fee, preferably an authorization to charge a deposit account, were included with a request to withdraw. Such would permit the Office to make sure, in most instances, that sufficient time remains in the period for response.

THERESA A. BRELSFORD,
Assistant Commissioner for Administration.

Reference Collections of U.S. Patents Available for Public Use in Patent Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent Depository Libraries, receive current issues of U.S. Patents and maintain collections of earlier issued patents. The scope of these collections varies from library to library, ranging from patents of only recent years to all or most of the patents issued since 1790.

These patent collections are open to public use and each of the Patent Depository Libraries, in addition, offers the publications of the U.S. Patent Classification System (e.g. The Manual of Classification, Index to the U.S. Patent Classification, Classification Definitions, etc.) and provides technical staff assistance in their use to aid the public in gaining effective access to information contained in patents. With one exception, as noted in the table following, the collections are organized in patent number sequence.

Facilities for making paper copies from either microfilm in reader-printers or from the bound volumes in paper-to-paper copies are generally provided for a fee.

Owing to variations in the scope of patent collections among the Patent Depository Libraries and in their hours of service to the public, anyone contemplating use of the patents at a particular library is advised to contact that library, in advance, about its collection and hours, so as to avert possible inconvenience.

MARKS PUBLISHED FOR OPPOSITION

The following marks are published in compliance with section 12(a) of the Trademark Act of 1946. Applications for the registration of marks in more than one class have been filed as provided in section 30 of said act as amended by Public Law 772, 87th Congress, approved Oct. 9, 1962, 76 Stat. 769. Opposition under section 13 may be filed within thirty days of the date of this publication. See rules 2.101 to 2.105.

A separate fee of two hundred dollars for opposing each mark in each class must accompany the opposition.

SECTION 1.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

SECTION 2.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

SECTION 1.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).
